HEAD 9106 LUFWANYAMA TOWN COUNCIL

In 2026, the District will prioritise the improvement of health outcomes through strengthened maternal and child health services, control of communicable diseases, enhanced HIV/AIDS interventions, and improved health system performance. These interventions will be coordinated under the leadership of the Lufwanyama District Health Office, with a strong emphasis on preventive, promotive, and curative health services. To reduce maternal mortality, the District will scale up access to skilled maternal health services by increasing the availability and utilisation of trained health personnel. In this regard, the District has set a target for 75 percent of all deliveries to be conducted by skilled personnel in 2026. Antenatal care services will also be strengthened, with a target of increasing the proportion of pregnant women receiving at least eight antenatal care visits. Child health services will focus on strengthening the Expanded Programme on Immunisation (EPI) to ensure full immunisation coverage, while nutrition interventions will aim to reduce the proportion of children with severe malnutrition (below -3 Z-score) from 3 percent to 2 percent.

The District will intensify efforts to prevent and control communicable diseases. Surveillance and case management will be strengthened to reduce the incidence of hepatitis, typhoid, and syphilis, with targeted reductions in new cases recorded across all three conditions. Disease surveillance systems will be enhanced through the continued monitoring of Acute Flaccid Paralysis (AFP) cases and the holding of four (4) epidemic preparedness committee meetings to ensure readiness for public health emergencies. Malaria remains a major public health concern in the District. Building on previous progress, the District aims to further reduce malaria incidence from 1,367 per 1,000 population in 2023, to 1,112 per 1,000 population in 2024, and ultimately to 850 per 1,000 population in 2026. This will be achieved through sustained distribution and utilisation of insecticide-treated nets, increased indoor residual spraying of households, and strengthened case detection and treatment at health facility and community levels.

To address the burden of tuberculosis, the District will ensure early detection, treatment, and follow-up of all TB cases. All presumptive TB cases identified will be investigated, with a target of 100 percent treatment and cure rates for confirmed cases. This approach is expected to significantly reduce TB transmission and improve patient outcomes. In line with national and global targets, the District will continue implementing the 95-95-95 strategy. By 2026, the District targets 95 percent of people to know their HIV status, 95 percent of those diagnosed to be linked to care, and 95 percent of people living with HIV to achieve viral suppression. Additional HIV prevention and care interventions will include voluntary medical male circumcision for 3,500 males and cervical cancer screening for 827 women, contributing to reduced HIV transmission and improved reproductive health outcomes.

To enhance service delivery and accountability, the District Health Office will continue providing technical support and supervision to lower-level health facilities. Performance assessments will be conducted in all 36 health facilities, with an increase in the proportion of technical support visits conducted from 52 percent to 60 percent. Quality improvement and quality assurance initiatives will also be implemented to strengthen clinical standards and patient safety. Hospital services will be strengthened to ensure continuity of care and improved patient welfare. The District plans to provide food rations to approximately 7,000 patients, procure medicines and medical supplies in all four quarters of the year, increase the number of surgical operations conducted in theatre to 90, and continue providing emergency response through ambulance services, ensuring timely referrals and lifesaving interventions.

Under this programme, farmers will be trained in agricultural smart practices by conducting sixty (60) demos and sixty (60) field days. In order to close the knowledge gap, twelve (12) farmer field schools will be operated and forty two (42) lead farmers identified. All this will be made possible through training of field staff in agricultural smart practices so as to equip them with sufficient knowledge on mechanization, production, marketing and nutrition. There is also a target of training sixty (60) field staff in Smart Climate Agriculture Practices in two different sessions. This will help sharpen the knowledge and skills of the officers for them to continue sharing with the farming communities. In the face of climate change, the irrigation section will ensure to map five (5) irrigation scheme sites and train farmers on how to efficiently utilize the water in these weir sites. Under the Mibenge farmer training Centre, there are plans of setting up three (3) different enterprises and also conduct four (4) farmer trainings in various subject matters to do with horticulture. Under the National Agricultural Information Services twelve (12) programmes are planned to be recorded and aired and three (3) shows to be held and to participate in two (2) agricultural shows giving a total of five (5) shows. In an effort to ensure effective extension service delivery, the 2026 budget includes an allocation for rehabilitation of two (2) camp houses which will encourage officer to be domiciled within their operational areas.☐

The Agribusiness and marketing section intends to conduct four (4) training to equip farmers and officers in Agribusiness and Marketing issues in an effort for our farmers to enhance the idea of them doing their farming as a business. To uphold the issues of maintaining and enhancing food security, monthly crop monitoring will be conducted in all the camps as an early warning system put in place to monitor diseases, pests including rainfall. This will be supported by serious monitoring and backstopping (farm visits) by the coordination office.

In 2026, the Fisheries and Livestock Programme focuses on strengthening animal health, promoting sustainable aquaculture, and supporting livestock and fish farmers through training, monitoring, and service delivery. The Council targets to train ten (10) farmers in entrepreneurship and value addition, and facilitate 18 market facility linkages between input suppliers and fish farmers. The Fisheries and Livestock programme is exceedingly essential in Lufwanyama- a district that is quickly transitioning into an agricultural and livestock hub on the Copperbelt Province. All livestock farmers in the district are to be adequately provided with Veterinary [extension] Services. This will include generation of four (4) Animal Disease Surveillance reports between January and December of 2026, and 4 co-management and 4 stakeholders meetings to be conducted. Fisheries Production and Productivity is aimed at improving extension services by targeting to reach out to all fish farmers in Lufwanyama. It is the aim of the department to promote the production of quality fingerlings, the use of low-cost feeds, create linkages to input suppliers as well as create market linkages. Sustainable Fish Development is a key output with regards to fish in natural water bodies- and eight (8) fish ban patrols are planned to be conducted in 2026. Participation at Agricultural Shows, and continued engagement with the local community alongside the provision of technical support and purposeful administration are factors that are meant to remarkably improve Fisheries and Livestock in the district
